BRONZE SCULPTURE BY ARTIST JEFF KRETE

NORTH AMERICAN P-51D MUSTANG

This original sculpture by Canadian aviation artist Jeff Krete depicts the legendary P-51D Mustang – its pilot rising up to view a wounded German FW-190A escaping into the cumulus clouds below.

Hand sculpted at an approximate 1:35 scale, this provides the artist with the opportunity to incorporate an amazing level of structural and esthetic detail. The FW-190 and cloud elements are presented in an abstract and subtle manner.

This remarkable bronze sculpture is hand-crafted in the ancient “lost wax” bronze casting process and is a substantial heirloom for your collection. Warm patinas highlight the fine detail in the Mustang and set the mood for this moment in late 1944.

Jeff Krete is a World Champion and master carver of aviation and wildlife subjects.
